The great Gardner trial is terminated. Dr. George A. Gardner, the hero of the notorious Gardner fraud under the late whig administration, as he is called, was arrested two or three years ago charged with having obtained by fraud and perjury $420,000 from the General Government, under an award of the Mexican Board of Commissioners for alleged losses in Mexico, connected with the working of certain silver mines.

Last spring he was tried on a charge of false swearing, but the jury were unable to agree upon a verdict. On the 12th December last, he was again arraigned on the same indictment before the criminal court of the District of Columbia. The Washington Sentinel says the trial continued until Thursday afternoon, when the case was given to the jury, who, yesterday morning, after an absence of twenty-two hours, returned to the court room.

In response to the usual question of the clerk, the foreman replied that they had agreed upon a verdict.

Many spectators were present, exhibiting intense anxiety to hear it; but there was an awful pause in the proceedings until the arrival of Mr. Bradley, one of the counsel for the accused. When this gentleman came into court, he, together with his associate in the case, took a position near Dr. Gardner, who, it appeared to us, from his manner and appearance, had a fearful apprehension of what the verdict was. But when he was directed to stand up, and heard the word "guilty" distinctly pronounced, his strength almost forsook him; and his countenance underwent a change, and wore a deathlike paleness. All hope now had deserted him! The dreadful word had fallen like the doom of death upon his ear, and shattered his heart—but late so hopeful. The spectators were far from being indifferent; they temporarily staid and pallid faces afforded an index to the feelings which possessed them on that mournful occasion.

Mr. Bradley stated that the counsel had prepared to file a bill of exceptions, and preferred to have judgment pronounced at once. Accordingly Dr. Gardner being required to stand up and receive the sentence of the law, Judge Crawford addressed him as follows:

You have been convicted by a jury of your country of the crime of false swearing touching the expenditure of public money, and in support of a claim against the United States. Perjury, in its nature and general sense, strikes at the root of all the securities which society is bound to extend to and maintain around the citizen. The particular offence charged upon you, and upon which the jury have passed, whether considered in reference to this complicated plot by which its objects were consummated, or to the amount of money obtained from the Treasury on the award of the commissioners appointed to decide upon the claims under the treaty with Mexico of February, 1843, is one of unusual enormity.

To address such observations, as must seem to every man who knows the circumstances that surround you, to a person of your conceded ability, would be useless or vain; useless, if they have arisen in your own mind; vain, if they have not. From your fate others should learn that no plan, however remote its origin, with whatever forecast laid, however stealthily or adroitly pursued for years, and at length executed, or with whatever success for a time attained, can be so cunningly devised as to escape detection. The unexampled ingenuity, or the network spread out on this trial, and the fact that it has been exposed at the last stage, ought not to fail of a beneficial effect in convincing all men that if they will trample on laws, human and divine, they shall suffer for it.

"The sentence of the court is, that you suffer, in the penitentiary for the District of Columbia, imprisonment and labor for the period of ten years."

The Judge then requested the Marshal to take the prisoner into custody, and he was subsequently conveyed to the jail, but not until after Mr. Bradley had asked that the execution of the sentence be postponed until two days after the rising of the circuit court, which this case would be carried on a bill of exceptions. The court assented, and a minute was ordered to be made on the record accordingly.

The intelligence of the finding of the jury immediately spread through the city and occasioned not a little surprise, the community being unprepared for the verdict, well remembering the history of the past in this case.

The public had scarcely recovered from their surprise before it became known that a short time only after his arrival at the jail, the prisoner was seized with violent convulsions, which contained several hours, and ended in death.

It is supposed that he swallowed poison, but of this there is no proof.

The deceased was thirty-six years of age, of good appearance, highly intelligent.

Under all these circumstances, says the Union, we are fully satisfied that nothing short of the untiring exertions of such men as May, Fendell and Key could ever have succeeded in unravelling the fraudulent schemes and devices concocted and executed with ingenuity and energy of a master mind, and in laying bare to the minds of a jury the enormous crimes through which the Treasury had been so heavily plundered. They have exposed and brought to condign punishment, one of the most startling conspiracies against the Treasury that ever disgraced the records of crime. Besides bringing the offender to justice, they have also succeeded in securing to the government about $200,000 of the plundered treasure.

The Union asks, was Gardner "the only depredator who has fattened upon the spoils of his ingenious villainy?" We think not. Corwin ought to be as to be forced to disgorge his enormous share of this vile robbery. It was a great pity that Gardner destroyed his letters and papers, and died unconfessed. What a train of villainy might have been exposed!

We are authorized to announce H. Innis Morris as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Franklin county at the election in August next.

EX-PRESIDENT FILLMORE.—We learn from the Louisville Courier that Ex-President Fillmore, accompanied by Hon. I. P. Kennedy and Ex-Postmaster General, N. K. Hall, are now on a visit to the eastern portion of the Mississippi Valley. They spent last Saturday night with Ex-Secretary Corwin, at Lebanon, Ohio, and arrived at Cincinnati at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. They are expected at Louisville to-day. From Louisville they contemplate passing through Frankfort on a visit to Ashland. It is the first time any of these gentlemen have been this far West. Fillmore has been making a Western tour ever since his official term expired, but has not reached here yet, however, if the Courier is correctly posted, we expect him here very soon.

The Union of the 5th inst. describes the final debate, and last action had upon the great Nebraska bill in the Senate of the U. S. as the grandest scene ever witnessed in that celebrated chamber. The Senate continued in session all Friday night and Saturday morning, during which time a most exciting debate was kept up. Senator Douglas made the greatest speech of his life. He spoke for more than three hours in reply to the adversaries of his bill. When the vote was taken there were 37 for to 14 against it, both of our Kentucky Senators being in the affirmative.

The House of Representatives yesterday passed a bill increasing the salaries of the Secretary of State to $1000 per annum, the Assistant Secretary to $800, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction to $1000. This is one of the best acts of the present session.

The Legislature adjourns to-morrow.

Mr. John H. HAMPTON, of the late firm of Luckett & Hampton, has opened a new store on St. Clair Street next door to Pierson's Confectionery. Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Books, and Stationery of the best quality, just received. Mr. H. has the neatest room, and about the best stock of such goods, that we have seen in Frankfort for a time. Go and see.

The Bank Veto.
Though, as a general thing, we are in favor of a spring and cautious exercise of Veto power, we very heartily approve of the interposition of the Executive negative, in the case of the Bank bill, which recently passed the Legislature. We are glad that Governor Powell has so firmly withstood the tide of banking enthusiasm, which is now raging through the State like a conflagration. We have looked with alarm upon the disposition which has been recently manifested to give unlimited extension to the banking system of Kentucky. The creation of banks is the most dangerous business in which a legislative body can engage. It produces upon us some such shattering results as the sight of a child playing with "edge tools." Mischievous is almost certain to result.

The only serious social and industrial calamities which the people of this country have ever endured were the results of overbanking—the multiplication of bank facilities. That banking institutions are a great advantage to the business of the country, cannot be denied. That they are, in some sense, necessary to trade and commerce is obvious. But too many banks are a more pernicious evil, than none at all. A redundant and inflated paper currency never fails to entail misery and loss upon any community in which it is tolerated. It creates a sort of monetary hallucination in the public mind, which frequently exhibits itself in the wildest fancies, ending in fatal results. It encourages speculation, fosters extravagance, and undermines the moral principles of a people. It is deceptive, and excites false and exaggerated notions, in affairs, where the closest calculation and precedence are eminently essential.

The desolating tornado of bankruptcy and ruin which swept over this country in 1837, consequent upon the overtrading which resulted from the multiplication of State Banks, is fresh in the recollection of all our older citizens. It would be difficult to perhaps to over-estimate the misery entailed upon the people, and the crime of all kinds resulting from the universal upturning of the moral foundations of society, which resulted at that time from one false step in legislation. The generation which witnessed such a scene, would be worse than fools not to profit by their experience.

Kentucky has now, Banks enough. Harcassing medium is sound and reliable, and current throughout the Union. It affords ample facilities in the pursuit of trade, commerce and exchange. Why then create more banks? It is true that the multiplication of the facilities for obtaining bank accommodations might give a temporary impulse to enterprise, and increase the flow of property and wealth in our State. But it would be a false and fictitious prosperity, and an unwholesome enterprise which would most probably terminate in embarrasments and final bankruptcy.

The proposition to create new banks was not prompted by any regard to the necessities of the country, but was got up to promote the views of speculators, who making the mortgage have taken to their own personal and local interest, rather than the general welfare of the State, and the stability of the credit. That it has passed both branches of the Legislature proves nothing; for we would like to know what measure may not be passed through both bodies if the proper influence are resorted to?

Hitherto Kentucky has maintained a high and proud position among the States of the Union in respect to the soundness of her public credit, and the safety and solvency of her monetary institutions. Her credit has stood high and unimpaired, when that of other States of equal national wealth and resources has sunk below zero. This honorable pre-eminence we have owed to the prudent restraints which have been imposed upon the extension of the banking system. Our policy in this respect has been the safest and most judicious that could have been pursued.

We repeat that we are heartily rejoiced that Governor Powell has vetoed the new bank bill. They were unnecessary—very dangerous—they were ill-advised—and the contingency was that the members of Congress, all their leading politicians, and most of their readers, by going against it? Come out, gentlemen, and let us see where you are on the slave question—whether you are with the abolitionists or with the South.

Why is it that the Whig papers in Kentucky are so silent about the Nebraska bill? Except three of them, we do not know how they stand on that question. The Russellville Herald is in favor of it. The Journal and Courier of this city are opposed to it. The others are mum. Why is it so? Are they afraid of offending the papers here by going for it? Or are they afraid of offending all the members of Congress, all their leading politicians, and most of their readers, by going against it? Come out, gentlemen, and let us see where you are on the slave question—whether you are with the abolitionists or with the South.

WASHINGTON, March 4

The Senate continued in session all night, and at 5 o'clock this morning the Nebraska bill passed. The vote stood 37 yeas to 14 nays. The debate was very warm and exciting, and high words passed between Messrs. Wade, Chase, Seward, Sumner, and the advocates of the bill. Mr. Chase characterized the bill as a bid for the Presidency on the part of its author. Mr. Douglas replied in reference to Mr. Chase, and said he (Douglas) has never held office, nor did he get to the Senate by corrupt bargains—he had never got to the Senate by putting his principles, character, and honor up at public auction for votes—he owed his place to no corrupt bargain or coalition.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

For eight years we have been afflicted with Dyspepsia, and since taking one box of Dr. O. HALL'S PAIN-EXPELLER, we are now perfectly cured. The medicine is a most valuable remedy, and some sixty days have now elapsed since we have taken the pills. We give this notice solely for the benefit of our readers, without any reward or favor from the vendors of the medicine. If the cure should be permanent, we intend to speak of the matter in detail hereafter, for you may be sure we feel like a glad child, because of this sudden change that has come over us.

DRS. GENTRY & YEATES,

OCULISTS,

FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY.
WILL GIVE THEIR UNDIVIDED ATTENTION TO DISEASES OF THE EYES.

OCULISTS.
WE the undersigned, Dr. J. B. Gentry, of Frankfort, Ky., and Dr. J. B. Yeates, of Lexington, Ky., have been afflicted with sore eyes of the most violent character, and who were about to be placed under their treatment for their recovery. We did so, and found them to be the most efficacious in the most distressing manner; their eyes were dim and shadowy in their appearance, and they seemed to suffer the most intense and excruciating pain—the disease having existed with some of them as far back as four years, preventing them from attending to any business during that period. We have been authorized by those patients to certify that in the incredible short time of four weeks that they are well and that we cannot certify in language too strong and forcible the gratitude they feel for the immense benefit they have derived from the scientific manner in which Dr. Gentry has treated their disease. We therefore recommend him to the patronage of all afflicted in like manner.

L. W. POWELL, Governor.
R. C. WINTERMUT, Jr., Treasurer.
J. SWIGET, Clerk of A.
THO. S. PAGE, Auditor.

April 19, 1853.

N. B. Having formed a partnership with Dr. Lafayette Yeates, who is a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, take great pleasure in recommending him to the community as being in every respect as competent to treat diseases of the eyes as any of us.

The firm will be conducted under the style of Gentry & Yeates, Oculists, Frankfort, Ky.
J. B. GENTRY
Lafayette Yeates, Oculist, Frankfort, Ky.

To the Representatives of Ky.
If you have in your country any one whose affliction corresponds to the above, you may extend the value of your usefulness by inducing them to visit Frankfort this winter. With respect yours, GENTRY & YEATES, Oct. 25.

FRAUD!
ALL who want Ases of the real Collins & Co. make should be particularly to notice the stamps, as there are various counterfeiters and imitations stamped and labeled much like ours, which are fraudulently sold in some parts of the United States as our manufacture. They are made in different parts of the country by various makers, and are generally of very inferior quality. The genuine Collins axes, which have acquired such an extensive reputation, are invariably stamped "COLLINS & CO. HARTFORD," and each axe has a printed label with my signature. It is now more than TWENTY FIVE YEARS since we commenced the "business" with the stamp of "Collins & Co., Hartford," and I do not know of any other axe-maker by the name of Collins & Co. in the United States. PROSPECTUS.
Incidents of the Nonnians for the last

TUNSTALL QUARLES has been engaged for some time in writing a book the title of which will be "Incidents of the Nonnians for the last 50 years," dedicated to the memory of the late Joseph Quarles, a friend and patriotic gentleman, who resided at Barlowville, Ky., many years. The favorite of his countrymen, and of upright sense and noble character, he was a man of high standing in the community, and his life was a history of the first settlers of Kentucky—and the means resorted to, to sever the Union and the peace of the country. The publication of the book will be a valuable addition to the literature of the State, and a monument to the memory of a noble man.

This production will appear some time in May next on an unbroken accident intervening—and will have appended to it a respectful dedication to the author, to have the money (one dollar) paid in advance, should the subscribers prefer to have the book for the last year. He will receive it in the latter part of the year. He will also be a history of the first settlers of Kentucky—and the means resorted to, to sever the Union and the peace of the country. The publication of the book will be a valuable addition to the literature of the State, and a monument to the memory of a noble man.
